

Self-help packs

Please find enclosed copies of the new MAT self-help pack 'Dealing with your debts' 16th edition, which has gained the Plain English Campaign's Crystal Mark for clarity.

The number of packs sent is based upon either a) the total ordered of the 15th edition or b) the total that can be sent in one parcel. You may wish to continue to use your stock of the 15th edition as the demand for the packs is very high. We have sent the new edition out to you at this stage to save on storage costs.

Provision has been made for your agency to stamp or place a label on the back page of the pack with details about your service. This could cover opening hours, contact name, address and telephone number. You may wish to enclose guidance for the client on how to use the pack and point out sections for the client to consider.

In the centre of the pack is a rough copy of a personal budget sheet, which can be detached. You will also need to place a personal budget sheet in each pack for the client to use as their final copy.

The detailed fact sheets mentioned in the pack can be obtained from National Debtline. These will be provided free of charge to people in debt. You can also download them from www.nationaldebtline.co.uk.

National Debtline have updated the pack but cannot be held responsible for changes in legislation or developments in case law since the 16th edition was issued.

You may also find the pack useful in the training of advisers.

When you wish to order more copies please complete and return the order form below after estimating the number of packs you would need to cover a six month period.
